

Second post powered by The Fascinator, with pictures

A few days ago I did my first blog post from The Fascinator Desktop. This post is just to show that embedded images are now supported. Next step will be posting a presentation to a blog. After that we'll be looking at repository deposit, and the ability to build complex objects from multiple parts and post/deposit those.

Here's a screenshot of the very slick (yet monochrome) interface that Oliver Lucido has put together:
